At the Kenya National Chamber of Commerce & Industry (KNCCI), we highly appreciate our members' feedback and their contributions to enhancing our service delivery.

In honor of Customer Service Week, we organized an engaging breakfast session for our members. The session aimed to gain deeper insights into their businesses, understand the challenges they face, and explore potential solutions for a more conducive environment for business growth.

During the event, KNCCI CEO Mr. Patrick Nyanweso emphasized the importance of member interaction, encouraging them to learn from diverse businesses and seize opportunities within the network. He assured members that KNCCI is tirelessly committed to meeting all their needs and desires.

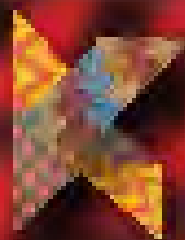

One of our esteemed KNCCI members, Mr. Felix Chege, the Chief Executive Officer of Real Sources Africa, shared his testimonial. Mr. Joseph Theuri, Chairperson of KNCCI Nyandarua, also present at the event, urged all members to work towards creating a broader ecosystem. He cited the example of Nyandarua County, which produces abundant cash crops that often go to waste due to a lack of markets. Members could explore these untapped opportunities from other counties.

In celebration of this momentous occasion, KNCCI had a Flag-Off Breakfast ceremony on 11th October at the Panafric Sarova Hotel in Nairobi.

China has remained Africa's largest trading partner for 14 consecutive years. In 2021, China has also extended a zero tariff treatment to 98% tax items for products to China, which promote exports.

This expansion marks a significant milestone in our KNCCI's history and noting our commitment to fostering stronger trade and investment ties between Kenya and China. The newly established China Branch Office will play a pivotal role in promoting collaboration, facilitating business partnerships, and displaying Kenyan products and services in the vibrant Chinese market, said the KNCCI CEO Mr. Patrick Nyangweso. He also noted that KNCCI is eying to have more branches in Guangdong, Sharjah and Ghana.

Chief Representative for KNCCI China Branch, Mr. Fredrick Mukilya in his remarks noted that the office would play a critical function in facilitating trade and investment, attract more investment, and promote visibility and awareness of Kenyan products and protection of businesses through arbitration. Setting up of the office will also give businesses confidence to work with China. “KNCCI’s expansion into China is a strategic move aimed at advancing economic cooperation between Kenya and one of the world’s largest economies,” said Dr. Erick Rutto, The Chamber President. “We are confident that our presence in China will open up new opportunities for Kenyan businesses and entrepreneurs and contribute to the growth of our nation’s economy.”

The new office will enable KNCCI to identify business opportunities, particularly in the export of meat and meat products, a sector that remains largely untapped.

Mr. Zhang Yijun, Minister Counsellor of the Embassy of the People’s Republic of China, congratulated KNCCI on this significant achievement and affirmed the embassy’s dedication to enhancing trade between the two nations.

Promoting Dual TVET Education in Kenya

The challenge of skills mismatch presents a significant hurdle when it comes to facilitating a smooth transition from school to the workforce, particularly for young job seekers, including graduates of Technical Vocational Education and Training (TVET) programs.

To address this challenge and develop practical solutions, the Kenya National Chamber of Commerce & Industry (KNCCI), in collaboration with GIZ Kenya and the State Department for Technical, Vocational Education and Training, conducted a sensitization forum. The focus of this forum was to sensitize members on the dual TVET system of education.

KNCCI TVET Committee Chairperson Mr. Muchiri Mungai highlighted the importance of Competency-Based Training (CBT) in enhancing skills, competitiveness, and ensuring that students are well prepared for various roles.

Senior TVET and Labour Markets Advisor at GIZ, Mr. Gideon Murenga commended Germany for its successful vocational dual TVET training system adopted by the industrial sector. He emphasized that by incorporating elements of the German vocational training system, Kenya can better equip its workforce, reduce unemployment, and stimulate economic growth by aligning education with industry demands. KNCCI CEO, Mr. Patrick Nyangweso underlined how the dual TVET system of education can foster a strong partnership between educational institutions and industries. This collaboration is essential to ensure that the skills taught are relevant and up-to-date with the job market's demands. Industry experts can actively contribute to the curriculum, thereby enhancing students' employability upon graduation.

Principal Secretary of the State Department for Technical, Vocational Education and Training (SD-TVET), Dr. Esther Thaara Muoria, who served as the Chief Guest, applauded all key industry players for organizing the forum. She emphasized the importance of raising awareness about dual training, noting that practical training is a crucial element of the education system, as it equips individuals with the skills and knowledge needed for employment. Dr. Muoria also expressed the government's need for industry support in hiring graduates from the program, emphasizing the value of learning by doing within companies to boost productivity. She announced that the Ministry would collaborate closely with KNCCI to support career policies aligned with the dual system training. Additionally, Mr. L D Khan, Commercial Counsellor of the High Commission of Pakistan, mentioned the Government of Pakistan's efforts to promote skills development through scholarships offered to six students from Kenya in two universities.

Overall, the forum aimed to address the skills gap challenge by promoting the dual TVET system of education and fostering collaboration between education and industry stakeholders, with the goal of enhancing employability and economic growth."
